

Greg White

Vice President, Finance
Electronics, Intelligence & Support

Greg White is vice president of finance for the Electronics, Intelligence & Support (EI&S) operating group within BAE Systems. He is responsible for the full spectrum of financial activities across the operating group.

EI&S, with headquarters in Arlington, Virginia, employs more than 33,000 people and serves the electronics, services, information technology, and power and controls markets. The group provides a wide range of electronic systems and subsystems for military and commercial applications, as well as integrated technical and professional service solutions for U.S. national security and federal markets.

White has been with BAE Systems and its heritage companies since 1999. He previously served as vice president of finance for the former Electronics & Integrated Solutions operating group and vice president of finance for the Platform Solutions business.

White also has held business management roles with Lockheed Martin and General Electric. In addition to his 18 years of experience in the defense and aerospace markets, he worked in the commercial heavy manufacturing and financial services industries.

White received a bachelor's degree in finance from the University of Massachusetts and is a graduate of the General Electric Financial Management Program.

BAE Systems is a global defense, security and aerospace company with approximately 107,000 employees worldwide. The Company delivers a full range of products and services for air, land and naval forces, as well as advanced electronics, security, information technology solutions and customer support services. In 2009 BAE Systems reported sales of $36.2 billion.